Missionary Linda Green has been serving faithfully in Soroti for nine years. Her work with the missionary team there includes soul - winning, training young girls, working in the orphanage, teaching in the prison and teaching other to duplicate themselves.

Uganda, is a tremendous mission field. The area is often filled with turmoil and is presently under political unrest. The threat of danger is always something that Miss Green must keep in the the forefront of her mind, yet she never allows those circumstances to hinder her obedience to The Lord.

In a recent conversation with Miss Green, she stated "All is well;it is just Africa. It's a place of unrest,even when there is no fighting.

Terrorists from Kenya come across the borders - sometimes they find them,often, they don't." This calm resolved is indicative of the peace that Miss Green finds in being in the will of God for her life.

Soroti Orphan Assistance Project (SOAP) is a facet of Baptist International Missions of Uganda (BIMU) with the unique purpose of ministering to orphans. Serving under the umbrella of the USA-based worldwide missions agency, Baptist International Missions, Inc. (BIMI), each SOAP missionary is sent under the authority of a stateside independent Baptist church to reach Uganda with the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

SOAP reaches out to orphan children of Uganda with the Gospel and then trains them to become effective ministers to their own people. In order to do this great task, SOAP accepts into its care and custody, children who are double orphans (having lost both father and mother). We become their parental caregivers and provide for their physical needs along with godly nurturing and training for spiritual development.
